Newly-Approved Sheehan Building Considered for Possible Conversion to Apartments

Housing always seems to be Princeton's Number One topic --- in a permanent tie-up with traffic --- and the subject came up again this week in a surprising context: denial by the Zoning Board of permission for Timothy Sheehan to put an extra two stories on his three-story unfinished building at the corner of Nassau and Markham. (See story, Page 1.)

What about converting that unfinished building into apartments? It was designed by Princeton architect Burton F. Weisbecker to be an office building with stores, but....

Princeton Community Housing, Inc., whose new Princeton Community Village in the Township is filling gradually with middle-income and low-income tenants, will begin shortly to talk with Borough officials about constructing similar housing in the Borough, according to PCH President Marianne Rees.

In the original PCH planning, some seven or eight years ago, the Borough was to be the first project with the Township following along. At that time, the public library parking lot and the Tulane lot were proposed as the sites and preliminary plans for apartments were prepared. Right now, however, there isn't any site in PCH's mind: only the idea.

Borough Council member Murray Medvin says that he and others have been wondering about apartments in the Sheehan building. Mr. Sheehan and several Borough officials, past and present, are in litigation, but nobody on the present Council (except Mayor Robert W. Cawley) is involved and Mr. Medvin sees no reason why Council and Mr. Sheehan's company, the Dundas Corporation, can't sit down and confer.

"I've never met Mr. Sheehan, I don't know the gentleman, but I'd be happy to work out a solution for use of his building that would be in the best interests of the town," Mr. Medvin said this week. "If he would take the housing approach that Benedict Yedlin has been following in the Township, I think people would bend over backwards to work with him."

Mr. Sheehan said he had no objection to apartments, "If it's economically feasible."

He points out that the building isn't designed for apartment use, and that it would probably cost more to complete it as apartments than as offices Plumbing would be the chief expense, in Mr. Medvin's view.

"It might alleviate the Borough's housing problem, but not help our own financial problem," Mr. Sheehan said.

If Mr. Sheehan were to ask the Zoning Board for permission to add two stories to his three-story building for apartments, what might happen?

William H. Walker II, who sits on the Planning Board and was on Borough Council, says it's a "very interesting question."

Less traffic, a different traffic-parking pattern, he points out, but

Completion of Three-Story Sheehan Building Approved But Two More Floors Are Rejected

Their preliminary discussion in trying to reach a decision was reported to be animated and divergent. But when it was concluded, the Borough Zoning Board of Adjustment last week voted unanimously to give the 146 Dundas Corporation half of what it had asked for in its application concerning the "Sheehan Building," the unfinished office building at the corner of Nassau Street and Markham Road.

The board -- chairman Charles St. John, Roger McDonough, Margery Claghorn, Albert Hinds and Michael Rockland – made a favorable recommendation to

This Is PRINCETON

Mayor and Council to grant a use variance and attendant bulk variances and waiver of off-street parking spaces (about 8) to permit expansion of the first floor by 2,280 square feet for retail space.

It denied, however, the applicant's request to add two additional floors of approximately 10,000 square feet each to the existing three. Basically, the board was concerned over what adverse effect the extra density would have on parking and traffic and what the extra height – 21 feet -- would have on the residential-office zone in which the building is located.

The building was begun in 1968 by Timothy J. Sheehan Jr., 216 Russell Road, but the Borough halted construction when it re-zoned the area. The building was later purchased for $3,000 at a bankruptcy sale by the Dundas Corporation of Florida, which is owned by Mr. Sheehan's father-in-law. Dundas assumed all liens on the property ($600,000 and $35,000 in taxes) which have since been paid off. Mr. Sheehan is secretary of Dundas.

Opposition Expressed. The three-hour meeting was a continuation of one held in July. About 25 neighbors were in the audience and all but one of those who addressed the board were opposed to or had reservations about the application.

Mrs. Mary Olivier, 28 Markham, a long-time opponent of the Sheehan Building, told the board that neighbors felt deceived and then outraged. She said that on several occasions they had to band together and hire lawyers to fight previous applications by Mr. Sheehan before giving up in disgust.

"The original plans called for three stories; we're not fighting that. But if things have made three stories no longer economically feasible that's not our fault. It's his fault."

"Not Mr. Sheehan's fault; it's the Borough's fault," Mr. Baggitt shot back. "That's why we're in litigation."

Fate Foreseen. "If the situation continues as it is," he commented, "eventually the Borough will have to condemn the property and tear it down. There is confiscation here. I think that is what the evidence has shown so far."

Mr. Baggitt summed up: "When I undertook to represent Mr. Sheehan in this "pilgrimage," I did so with a great deal of doubt. I had been exposed to the same trials in other situations.

"I know he wants to complete that building. It can be a viable economic unit in the community, an aesthetically-pleasing building. The point is he wants to finish it. To put it behind us. It can be done if the right conditions are imposed with a minimum amount of impact on the area."

Anthony T. Bionno, an architect and consultant specializing in specifications and costs, had been supplied by the board with a set of plans for the Sheehan Building and a cost analysis presented by Mr. Sheehan before the board in July.

Mr. Sheehan had estimated the existing shell as valued at $700,000 and said an additional $850,000 would be needed to complete the building as originally approved. Questioned by board attorney William Von Oehsen Jr., Mr. Baionno said that he had arrived at figures of $470,000 to $490,000 and $704,000 --- based on average or better than average materials.

Higher Costs Involved. However, when asked by Mr. Baggitt if he knew the building had stainless steel window frames, was heated electrically including the sidewalks, had bronze-tinted windows and so on, Mr. Baionno replied he did not and admitted that each would add to the cost. In the end, Mr. Baionno agreed that it was possible that his revised figures could be within $100,000 to $150,000 of Mr. Sheehan's.

Chairman St. John had opened the meeting with the remark that "continued cases are unusual." Mr. Baggitt then spent some time in legal fencing with Mr. Von Oehsen, making it clear to the board that he thought the continued meeting was not only unusual but unnecessary.

Mr. St. John read letters from Arthur Morgan, former Borough Council member, and Norman Williams, former Borough Zoning Board member. Both were members of the planning board which revised the Master Plan, Mr. Williams describing Jugtown, the area of which Sheehan's building is a part, as "the most discussed area in Princeton with the exception of the downtown area."

Mr. Morgan in his letter said that he had to question the desirability of the application. The board had requested the background letter from Mr. Williams, a nationally-recognized expert in zoning now living in Vermont.

Influence Charged. Mr. Baggitt objected, saying the Planning Board should not impose its will on the Zoning Board, that the letters amounted to undue influence. "I feel comments like Mr. Williams' (Mr. Baggitt produced a letter from Mr. Williams to Council in 1969 opposing the Sheehan proposal) are basically unfair. I think a judge would say it was highly prejudicial."

"Should we not be allowed to hear them?" asked Mr. Claghorn.

"It's the first time in 15 years of going before Zoning Boards of Adjustment that one has sought out additional testimony. It's almost as if the board were in an adversary position," he said.

When Mr. St. John said that he had just received a petition from 60 property owners living in the adjacent area, opposing the addition of two stories, Mr. Baggitt again commented, "It seems this extended hearing is a deliberate attempt to elicit that type of information."

Charges Exchanged. "We're attempting to elicit not only adverse but favorable comment," interjected Mr. Rockland. I have a completely

No Decision on Appeal

Mr. Sheehan said Monday that no decision has been reached on whether to appeal the Zoning Board's decision. "As things stand now," he said, "there is nothing to appeal. All we have right now," he pointed out, "is a favorable recommendation to Mayor and Council."

If Mayor and Council agree with the board's recommendation, will the Dundas Corporation go ahead and complete the building as originally planned? It's a question that Mr. Sheehan says he does not want to answer now.

"I don't want in any way of being accused of putting pressure on Mayor and Council. They'll make the decision they think best. I don't think it's right to say, 'if you don't do this, we'll do that'."

Consider a 30 minute drive from Princeton to see this beautiful property. An exceptional center hall stone and stucco Colonial, the house is set on an acre of mature plantings and old shade trees. Superbly constructed in 1930, it reflects the expensive luxuriousness of its period. The living room has a fireplace, extensive custom woodwork and French doors to the garden. The dining room also has French doors, a lovely chandelier and wainscoting. Also on the first floor is a library, a kitchen and a spacious screened porch. Up the winding staircase to the second floor, there is a master bedroom and private bath, three other large bedrooms, a family bath and ample storage space. On the third floor there is another finished room (presently a dance studio) and additional storage. This offering has now been reduced to the special price of $125,000 still the same "shadows" cast by a five-story structure.

"If a developer could show that middle-income housing would be provided," Mr. Walker muses, measuring his words, "it would be hard politically to turn the developer down. But of course, he'd need a subsidy of some kind — from the state, or a PCH kind of deal."

Two Questions. Mr. Walker also wonders aloud just what "economically feasible" means: break even, or a return of 100 percent?

PCH, meanwhile, is dusting off its Borough files and getting ready for talks at Borough Hall.

"We're pursuing something we still think is good," Mrs. Rees says, "Does the Borough still think it's a good idea? That's what we want to find out. We don't know the number of apartment units — that would depend on the location."

But an "overwhelming need" exists for one-bedroom apartment units, Mrs. Rees and PCH have found, as they check the pre-applications for apartments in PCH Village. The one-bedroom building won't be completed until mid winter.

One Bedroom in Demand. "We have at least as many pre-applications for one-bedroom units as for all the rest of the project put together," she reports. Most of these, she thinks, are older couples who have recently retired or who are widowed and no longer need a house.

The reason PCH is going to the Borough now, when cement is scarcely dry on the Township project, is the forthcoming November bond issue on housing.

"We'd like to get at the head of the line," Mrs. Rees smiles.

If a "PCH Village II" should be built in the Borough, it would be financed under the new Section 8 funding law, in quite a different way from the present PCH project, Mrs. Rees explains. Under the Section 8 system, payment is made to the tenant to make up the difference between 25 percent of the tenant's income, and the rent. The maximum is based on fair-market rents in the area.

Limit to Expansion. Getting back to the Sheehan building and its neighbors: both Mr. Medvin, a Democrat, and Mr. Walker, a Republican, regard the Nassau-Markham area, which is colloquially known as "Jugtown" because potteries used to be there, as a "neighborhood". Small stores, little restaurants and the like are part of that neighborhood, Mr. Medvin points out, but he adds, "There must be an end to how far business expands in the Borough, and I think people in the Township feel this, too. Citizens in both Princetons would rather have it stop."

But Mr. Sheehan's building is not the only office structure now in the neighborhood. Benedict Yedlin received preliminary site plan approval from the Planning Board last spring for a two-story office building behind the Gourmet store. Mr. Yedlin said this week that he hadn't decided what he will do. He owns the one-third acre of land, which is zoned office-residence.

Mr. Medvin, aware of Mr. Yedlin's project, thinks that particular site —" not the most beautiful in the world" — might be better if something were built on it and nicely landscaped, even though in principle, he wants Jugtown kept a neighborhood.

Whether Mr. Yedlin – and indeed the First National Bank, which has a one-story drive-in across from the Sheehan building — would have stepped forward to ask for additional stories if the Zoning Board had given permission to Mr. Sheehan, is moot but interesting.

Another interesting question is – what plans does Mr. Sheehan have for the lots, including three buildings, which his corporation has recently purchased in the area? They are next to his uncompleted building. He said this week there is nothing he can do with the properties right now.

Economic facts of life usually dictate business or retail construction, rather than apartment-building. But perhaps apartments are one way to fulfill the hopes of Mr. Medvin and Mr. Walker that Jugtown remain "a neighborhood."

open mind on the application. I came here to hear further comment."

"The trouble with that is I came to hear that the first time," Mr. Baggitt riposted. "Now I am hearing something different." Then he added, his voice rising, "I heard even before we presented this case in July that somehow it was going to be postponed 'til September."

"That's a very serious charge," Mr. St. John said. A few minutes earlier, when Mr. St. John told him that the continuation occurred because of the board's wish to find out more about the intent and purpose of the zoning ordinance for the area, Mr. Baggitt refused to be satisfied.

"When we presented our case in July, you heard what we said. It was fresh in your minds. You'll hear more testimony tonight and that will be fresher.

"There is a fine line between obtaining objective information and soliciting information that is not objective and prejudicial. I don't think the Zoning Board should be in the position of soliciting information."

"We have to protect the interests of the town," Mrs. Claghorn told Mr. Baggitt.

"Yes, but your decision has to be grounded in fact," he said.

HUN ENROLLS 500

Begins 62nd Year. Enrollment at The Hun School reached 500 students as the school began its 62nd academic year last week. The opening enrollment represented increases of 11 percent over last September, and 60 percent over the past five years.

In addition to day student increases in grades 7-12, the growth of the student body was influenced by the admission, for the first time, of 20 girl boarding students.

BUSES ARE BACK

And Riders Are Glad It may not have been blue and white, but who cares, if it's your bus, and you want a ride?

Princeton's Loop Buses, both of them, went back on the road Monday and Co-ordinator Sydney Taggart is delighted with the public response.

"It was a flying start!" she said happily on Monday, tallying up passengers at the end of the day. On that first day of renewed service, the Inner Loop had 90 riders and the Outer Loop had 48, for a total of 138 in a single day.

"Last year, ridership didn't get that high until we were really into bad weather," she recalled.

She was particularly happy to note passengers who rode to the Shopping Center from Palmer Square and returned with full shopping bags. Some children rode the buses, but not many-- eight on one bus and nine on the other.

Sometimes it was almost a reunion. (The buses haven't been running since June).

"THIS IS A BLUE AND WHITE BUS". Hard to tell, since it's painted orange and black. But the blue-and-white paint job wasn't finished quite soon enough to meet Monday's starting date for resumption of Loop Bus service, so orange and black will have to do for a time. The sign is to reassure passengers who might be confused, having read that Loop buses would be blue and white.

Riding along from checkpoint to checkpoint, Mrs. Taggart was on a bus when it stopped at Nassau and Harrison. "Hi, there!" called the driver to a smiling passenger climbing aboard. "Why, it's my favorite passenger!"

NO SETTLEMENT

In Euell-Vieland Case. Last Friday's conciliation conference failed to settle the case of Virginia Euell and Constance Vieland against Princeton's school board. The case now goes to a public hearing, but Division of Civil Rights staff members say it could be months before the hearing can be fitted into the Division's schedule.

The case could not be settled in conciliation because, a Division spokesman said, "the school board does not want to settle the case in the manner proposed by the Division of Civil Rights."

Miss Euell is charging that the school board refused to appoint her principal of the Middle School because she is a woman and because she is black. Dr. Vieland charges sex discrimination in the board's refusal to re-appoint her director of staff services.

The Division and the two complainants wanted the school board to retain the two women in the positions of director of staff services and principal, to stop alleged discrimination against them in the future, and to make financial recompense for humiliation, mental suffering and the lower pay which both now receive. The board refused

The two complainants were represent represented by the Civil Rights Division, and were not allowed to appear at the conference in person. The board was represented by attorney James McLaughlin.

Next Thursday, an officer of the state's Commissioner of Education will hold a hearing on Dr. Vieland's charge that the board could not deny her tenure as staff services director because she already had tenure.

MORE BROOKS TO CROSS

Study Planned. With Harry's Brook now sleeping it off, the Township is turning its attention, not away from scallawag Harry, but toward to two other Township streams: Mountain Lakes Brook, which flows through the Laurel-Red Hill area, and the unnamed stream in the Riverside section.

An ordinance will be introduced by Township Committee next Monday to provide money for flood studies of these two streams. Such a study has already been made of Harry's Brook.

In addition, on Monday night, Committee will hold public hearing on an ordinance requiring the county engineer's approval of designs for new bridges and culverts.

Public hearing will also be held on the proposed ordinance changing from six months to one year the period that can a elapse between getting a variance and obtaining a building permit, and on the ordinance repealing the re requirement for site plan review before a developer can go to the Zoning Board. This measure also establishes a new requirement that the Planning Board be notified of variance hearings.

Committee also will act on the agreement to renew the Loop Bus for another three months. The present agreement expires September 30.

POLITICS

Township Republicans. Will Loop Bus routes be turned into a nonse, to trap unwary political candidates?

Tod Peyton and Josie Hall, Township Republican candidates, came out four-square this week for a route change: instead of going straight down Witherspoon to Terhune, why not U turn at Henry, continue to Jefferson and then proceed along Jefferson to Terhune? they ask.

COX'S STORE ENTERED

$300 Taken. Ten cartons of cigarettes valued at $46.90 and $300 were stolen last week from Cox's, 182 Nassau Street. The money was taken from a cash register and storage area

According to police, the intruders gained entry by lifting a heavy metal door in the front sidewalk high enough to allow them to cut a lock. They then entered the store area from the cellar, leaving through a back door.

Police placed the theft between 4 Sunday afternoon and 6:30 Monday morning. Ptl. James Agins is investigating.

Tape Recorder Stolen. A $130 tape recorder was stolen last week from Corner House, 273 Witherspoon Street

Also taken were a bottle of amphetammes and a check made out to one of the employees for approximately $300. All were stolen from filing cabinets which were apparently opened, police said, with a key. A stop order was issued on the stolen check.

Police add that a key was also apparently used to enter Corner House itself sometime between 5 p.m. and 9 a.m. Lt. Richard Steiner and Det. Frank Boccanfuso are investigating.

While checking mall doors early Sunday morning, Ptl. Mario Musso discovered that a side door of the Pizza Star at the Princeton Shopping Center had been pried open.

The building was checked and police notified the owner, Frank Polizzi, but apparently nothing was disturbed.

TWO ARE INJURED

In Head-on Collision Two Princeton residents were admitted to Princeton Medical Center's intensive care unit Tuesday morning, following a head-on collision on Stockton Street just north of Quaker Road.

Admitted were Mrs. Helen Van Cleve, 77, of Carson Road, a Princeton realtor, and Lewis C Miller, 22, 23 Moran Avenue Mrs. Van Cleve suffered a fractured femur; Mr. Miller sustained a concussion and laceration of his ear.

A spokesman at the Medical Center described both their conditions as "guarded." Both were removed from their cars by members of the Princeton First Aid and Rescue Squad

The police investigation is being continued by Ptl. Peter Savalli. According to Ptl. Savalli, Mrs. Van Cleve, heading toward Princeton, had just come off the Stony Brook Bridge. Mr. Miller, driving a van, was heading in the opposite direction They collided in the north lane.

Both vehicles had to be towed away. Visibility was clear and the roadway was dry at the time of the mishap.

INCREASED AID SOUGHT

For PHS Class of '76. The Princeton Regional Scholarship Foundation has announced the opening of a drive to raise funds for members of the Princeton High School Class of 1976 who will require financial assistance to continue their education or training.

According to Foundation president Dorothea Lummis, it anticipates that the need for aid will exceed last year when 18 members of the Princeton High School Class of 1975 shared $8000 in educational grants administered by the Foundation. Cited as factors contributing to the increase in need are rising tuition costs coupled with a decrease in aid offered by many post-high school institutions.

Officially, Summer will conclude her stay with us Tuesday morning at 11 55, when Fall moves in for the next three months No immediately noticeable change in the weather is anticipated for the occasion

Summer's last days here should be somewhat milder than the past week, when outlying areas recorded temperatures barely above 40 Not much rain is in sight, and the final weekend of the current season may well be one of its best

In the five years since the Princeton High School PTA organized the Foundation, more than 120 PHS graduates have received educational grants. Students Return, Campus Thefts Promptly Soar; Loot Includes $400 Trumpet and $800 Tapestry

One need only look as far as the Borough police docket to realize the university students are back.

Chief Michael Carnevale listed nine thefts from Princeton University dormitories, three from 1903 Hall. Taken between 1 and 11 a.m. Monday from a room in 1903 Hall while the occupant was sleeping was a $400 trumpet and a coronet valued at $30. Police said entry was through an unlocked window.

A 19-inch color TV valued at $350 and a $50 AM-FM radio were stolen between 4:30 and 8:30 p.m. Saturday and a stereo receiver valued at $250 was stolen earlier from an unlocked room -- both in 1903 Hall. A combination cassette-recorder player ($170) and turntable ($100) were taken from Henry Hall.

The victim told Det. Charles Harris that he had left his room at 11:30 Saturday night and when he returned 45 minutes later, he found his door unlocked and the items missing.

$800 Tapestry Taken. An $800 tapestry located in a den area off the main entrance off the Terrace Club was reported missing last week. Measuring seven by seven feet, the tapestry depicts a country scene and has a large tree on the left side of the picture. Ptl. James Agins investigated.

A $250 stereo receiver was reported stolen from a first-floor living room at the same club. Police received the report at noon Monday. Another stereo, valued at $100, was taken Thursday from a room in Walker Hall. The victim told police when he returned he discovered his window open.

A wallet containing $25 was taken Sunday evening from atop a bureau in Pyne Hall. It was later found outside the Hall with the money missing. A super slide rule pocket calculator, valued at $150, was removed last week from a room in Frick Lab on William Street. Sgt. Thomas Procaccino investigated and reported no sign of forced entry.

In other thefts, police report that two radios were taken from separate rooms at Lambert House, the nurses' residence at Princeton Medical Center. One of the radios, taken from an unlocked room, was valued at $20.

Sunday, an employee at the Medical Center told police she lost $22 when her wallet was stolen from a nurse's office. She had left her handbag in a cabinet behind a desk during the day. A Trenton resident lost $40 when her brown and red plaid wallet was stolen last week from an office at 221 Nassau Street. She had been out of the office from 2:30 to 4.

A green racing bike ($125) was stolen one evening last week after it had been parked all day in front of the Princeton Public Library. Police described the victim as an adult from the Township.

Someone entered the apartment of a Bank Street resident Sunday through an unlocked door and walked off with a radio valued at $20. Articles including a coat, sweater, hat and flashlight were stolen Monday from a car parked in a lot at the Medical Center.

Police said that a window on the right side had been broken to enter. The thief also damaged the dashboard trying to remove a radio. The victim was from the Princeton area.

NEW AFS STUDENTS AND RETURNING PRINCETONIANS: Front row, Sonia Merlano from Columbia, Amy Dunbar who spent the summer in Columbia, and Greta Hutchinson who was in Peru for the summer. Back row, Isabelle Richart from France, Michael Pergeman from Sweden, and Arlete Lins from Brazil.

STUDENTS WELCOMED

AFS Applicants Sought. Four foreign exchange students were welcomed to Princeton last week at a meeting of the Princeton chapter of the American Field Service at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Michel Lion. The four, three girls and a boy, will live for the year with their Princeton host families and attend high school here.

This year's students at Princeton High School are Michael Pergeman from Skaare in the south of Sweden, who will live with Dr. aod Mrs. Anthony Dede of Leabrook Lane. Spending the year with Mr. and Mrs. Richard France of 16 Bertrand Drive is Arlete Lins, daughter of an attorney in Dracena, Brazil.

At Princeton Day School are tsabelle Richart of Lens, in northern France, and Sonia Merlano, whose father is a doctor in Bogota, Colombia. Host parents for Isabelle are Dr. and Mrs. S. B. Penick, Jr., of Elm Lane, while Mr. and Mrs. John Avery, 81 Castle Howard Court, are Sonia's family for the year.

Miriam Lewin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lewin, 113 Magnolia Lane, is living in Grenoble, France, for a year under the sponsorship of AFS. Two other Princeton girls spent this past summer in South America with the AFS summer program. They are Greta Hutchinson of PDS who lived in Cuzco, Peru, and Amy Dunbar of PHS who was with a family in Cucuk, Colombia.

Originated by American ambulance drivers in the World War I and II, the AFS Student Exchange Program exists to give young people from foreign countries the experience of living in this country, not as tourists, but as part of a family, school and community. Equally important is the opportunity for American students to participate in a similar program in other lands.

Any junior or senior at PHS or PDS who is interested in participating in the AFS Abroad program for next year nr this coming summer may obtain information from Mrs.

LANDSCAPE SERIES SET

To Benefit PCV. A series of three landscape workshops for the home gardener will be held on successive Thursday evenings, at 7:30 p.m. beginning September 25 at the John Witherspoon School. The program is sponsored by garden clubs in the Princeton area and by Princeton Community Village, Inc., the non-profit, low-middle income housing development on Bunn Drive for which the proceeds will be used to provide additional landscaping.

The workshops will be led by Townsend Scudder, Jr. of Ambleside Gardens, who has conducted a number of adult education courses on landscaping, is a former director of the New Jersey Association of Nurserymen, and has written articles on various landscape topics for TOWN TOPICS and other newspapers.

The cost for all three workshops is $10 or $4 per individual lecture. Payment may be made at the door or by sending a check, payable to "Landscape Clinic," 15 Hodge Road. Mr. Scudder is donating his services.

The first workshop will cover basics in landscape design, the definition of landscape objectives and developing a crentive approach. The October 2nd lecture will deal with trees and shrubs best suited to the Princeton area and how they should be used. The final session, on October 9, will involve the design and creation of "your own outdoor living room."

All lectures will be illustrated with colored slides. Other subjects to be covered include foundation plantings, walkways, garden pools, rock gardens, retaining walls and patio construction.

JUVENILES CHARGED

Friday evening, a 15-year old Trenton youth was taken into custody, following a fight in front of the A&S Luncheonette, 86 Nassau. Police said that the youth, drunk and disorderly, had engaged in a fight with a university student. He was later released to his guardians. All three juveniles will be processed by Borough juvenile officer Douglas Watsoo.

Book Break, a weekly book discussion for children ages 9-11 will resume on Friday, October 17, and continue on Fridays at 3:30 through December 19. No registration is required.

Further information is available at the Library on the Children's Department is plans for workshops and special performances throughout the Fall.

GOAL HIGHEST EVER

For United Fund. The United Fund-Red Cross Campaign of the Princeton Area has set a goal of $655,000 for 1975 — the largest in its history, and 13 percent more than raised last year.

"The needs of our 19 United Fund member agencies, and our local branch of the American Red Cross have never been greater than they are today," said United Fund President, James T. Robson in announcing the record goal. "These community organizations are providing some 32,000 area residents with more health, welfare and recreational services than ever before," Mr. Robson added, "and they are doing it in the face of continuing inflation."

This year's campaign, which will start October 1, will involve more than 600 volunteer fund raisers, nearly 100,000 campaign brochures and pledge cards, employee fund-raising programs at more than 75 area companies plus Princeton University and four scoreboards featuring king-size thermometers to record progress in meeting this year's goal.

The United Fund-Red Cross Campaign enables residents of Cranbury, East Windsor, Griggstown, Hightstown, Kingston, Montgomery, Plainsboro, Princeton, Rocky Hill, West Windsor, and adjacent areas of Hopewell, Lawrence and South Brunswick Townships to support their community service agencies with a tax-deductible once-a-year gift. The United Fund has been conducting its annual Campaign since 1938 and in most of these years has come close to or exceeded its goal.

"All of us are working very hard to put our 1975 fund-raising campaign over the top," said Campaign Chairman Aleck Borman. "Every contribution is urgently needed," he added, "and because 93.5 cents out of every dollar given goes directly to our non-profit United Fund agencies and the Red Cross, (the rest pays for staff support) contributors know they are getting an excellent return on their annual investment in these important community services."

....ON ALCOHOLISM

Film to Be Shown. A film strip, "Chalk Talk," about the history, intervention and treatment of alcoholism will be given a public showing next Wednesday, September 24, at 7:30 p.m. at Princeton House, Mt. Lucas Road. The presentation is sponsored by

New Petition against Yedlin Housing Project Given to Township by Neighborhood Residents

A second appeal has been filed in an attempt to stop construction of public housing at Benedict Yedlin's Mt. Lucas Road site.

A petition signed by some two dozen neighbors of the area, in addition to the appeal filed by Dwight O. North, asks Township Committee to reverse the Planning Board's decision that Mr. Yedlin had met the conditions for site plan approval.

But Mr. Yedlin is still confident.

"There is no qoestion in my mind that Committee will uphold the Planning Board's approval," Mr. Yedlin said this week, "Nothing has come up since the last time."

Mr. Yedlin has a November 1 deadline to meet: the option to buy the land expires at that time. He acknowledged that he does not yet know what he will do if decisions are still up in the air as October draws to a close.

"We have begun thinking about what might be done," is all he will say. "We" refers to the Borough Housing Authority, architect J. Robert Hillier and counsel Thomas Jamieson, Mr. Yedlin said.

An appeal is ste still in the coorts from a decision last May by Superior Court Judge George Y. Schoch that Committee acted properly when it approved the public housing project. Mr. Yedlin said this week that he hopes a decision in that case will come late this month.

The petitioners gave no reasons for their appeal. Administrator Joseph R. Nini said he has asked them to provide specific rew reasons so that Committee can focus on particular grievances. Mr. North, in his appeal, has declared that he is not satisfied with the design for the storm-water retention basin required by the Planning Board for the site.

Committee will probably set a hearing date at Monday's meeting, Mr. Nini said.

Petitioners are Paul S. Smith, 181 Laurel Circle; Mrs. Arthur Webster, 200 Laurel Circle; Janet A. Gall, 168 Laurel Circle, Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Buranelli, 282 Mt. Lucas Road; Mr. and Mrs. J.G.R. Crouzer, 180 Laurel Circle; Kathleen Lander, 186 Laurel Circle; Mehnert Lander, 186 Laurel.

Also Anne Young, 187 Laurel Circle, Earl and Kathryn Armstrong, 208 Laurel Circe Circle; Isabelle Lippincott, 694 Ewing; James and Nancy Green, 688 Ewing; Mr. and Mrs. William Ludlow, 194 Laurel Circle; Mr. and Mrs. Baruch Boxer, 167 Laurel Circle; Elaine and William Brower, 628 Ewing; Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Hoogenboom, 99 Red Hill Road; Valeria C. AFS TO BE DESCRIBED

At Montgomery Meeting. The Montgomery chapter of the American Field Service will hold an informal session on Thursday at 8 p.m. in the Montgomerly High School library to describe the Americans Abroad program to interested juniors and their parents.

Two separate programs are available for a student wishing to live and study abroad with a family, one for the summer months, the other for a school year. Montgomery has two students, Jana Schmidt and Richard Nusbaum, who have returned from a summer abroad and who will be on hand to tell of their experiences and answer questions.

Selection of applicants will be handled through a committee headed by Mrs. Lillian Geyer. The Montgomery chapter is willing to assist with financing. Informatioin about the Americans Abroad program is also available through Mr. Michael Hyland, MHS Spanish instructor and faculty advisor to AFS.

Montgomery is serving as host community this year to Pia Scharling of Jyderup, Denmark, who is living with the R.C. Schmidt family. She is the third foreign student to live in Montgomery since the AFS chapter was initiated in 1972. Increased community interest in AFS activities has encouraged the chapter to offer Americans Abroad to Montgomery students.

OPEN HOUSE PLANNED

By After-School Writing Program. Helikon, the after school writing program, will hold an Open House Thursday from 3-6 in the Little Theatre of the Unitarian Church on Cherry Hill Road. Children and adults are invited to drop in to meet the teachers, Mimi Schwartz, Kathy Kenfield and David Mackey, and see how creative arts can lead to writing ease.

The Helikon staff believes that writing is a unique way to know oneself better. Through classes and workshops for kindergarteners through adults, the program tries to provide the weekly opportunity to write and share the results in small, informal groups. Writing emerges in all forms, including poetry,

From the 1740's America began to exploit various springs and wells used by the Indians, and many of these have become great health resorts. At most of these places, as well as great spas in Europe, the value of the treatment depended on the chemical content of the water. Some were rich in iron, giving the water a rusty appearance. At others the waters were salty--betraying the presence of the soluble chlorides and sulphates of magnesium, sodium, and calcium. Curative? Only in that they slowed the tempo of life nnd promoted relaxation--still at a premium today.

For all your vitamin needs consult with the experts at FORER PHARMACY, 160 Witherspoon. Complete prescription service awaits you when you rely on FORER'S, for all your sick room, convalescent and sundry supplies. We're open daily from 9 to 9 and Sundays from 9 to 3 p.m. Phone 921-7287.

Every fall, foreign visitors to the Princeton area turn to the Young Women's Christian Association for help and instruction in the English language, a necessity to their integration into the community and the American way of life. The YWCA has endeavored to have volunteers available as tutors on a one-to-one hasis for foreign born school children and their parents.

This year, with the addition of Vietnamese families relocating here, there is an urgent need for volunteer English teachers. No teaching experience is necessary. For information, contact Anne O'Brien at the YWCA, 924-4825 ext. 22.

Princeton Seeks to Estimate Influx of Bicentennial Visitors – Peak Expected in 10-Day Period Leading to January 3, 1977

Will Princeton be inundated in 1976 by Bicentennial tour buses and lines of cars, filled with camera-toting visitors asking the way to The Battlefield? Will its sidewalks be jammed with footsore, hungry tourists looking for restrooms?

To Stanley Smoyer, appointed by the town's two mayors to head the Princeton Community Bicentennial Committee, and to Paul Bayliss, chairman of the Bicentennial Committee of the Chamber of Commerce, these are not rhetorical questions but contingencies to be weighed and planned for.

BUSINESS In Princeton

"What we have seen so far this summer, in terms of increase in inquiries and traffic, does not give us cause for alarm," comments Mr. Smoyer, who checked with the Borough Police chief and clerk's office, the Nassau Inn, the Historical Society and the Chamber of Commerce. "However, we are watching the situation very closely and have made contingency plans."

Mr. Smoyer expects the biggest crowd to come in the ten-day period, December 25, 1976, to January 3, 1977, when the state American Revolution Bicentennial Committee will celebrate the two battles of Trenton and the battle of Princeton which are credited in some sources with having changed the course of the Revolution.

Because the University will be on vacation during that period, it has said it will make its parking lots available and could open Commons as a tourist cafeteria. Mini-buses would be used and portable toilets and manned information booths located in strategic places.

"We don't expect people to stay overnight, and at the most one meal would be involved," said Mr. Smoyer, who added with a grin that at this moment he knew of no hotels or restaurants being built. The churches on Nassau Street might be called upon to hold casserole suppers, he suggested.

Mr. Bayliss, who terms the problem one of "visitor management," emphasized the Chamber's desire to make visits by tourists a pleasant experience for the visitors and for the town. Citing the town's resources, he is confident of the ability to handle however many people might come.

Neither man would venture a guess as to just what the numbers might be beginning next summer and peaking by the 3rd of January, 1977. "It's anybody's guess," said Mr. Bayliss. "Concord and Lexington, according to some reports, expected 150,000 last April and only 60,000 came. On the other hand, the Wall Street Journal talks of 20 million visitors to the Boston-Washington corridor." In keeping with his wait-and-see approach, Mr. Smoyer plans to attend a meeting in New Brunswick next Thursday on "The Impact of Bicentennial Tourism in the Tri-State Region."

Many events are being planned by organizations, in this area, from Colonial Fashion Shows and Dinners to Bicentennial Balls and lectures on battles. Mr. Bayliss stressed the need for greater coordination and urged people planning events to check with the community calendar in the library, where Bicentennial events are written in red.

Increase This Summer

In conducting its own research into the possible, Bicentennial related increase of tourism over the summer, TOWN TOPICS found that during the months of June, July and August, the Orange Key Guides at Princeton University conducted tours for 2,907 people 1,269 more than last year, an increase of 43 percent.

How many of these came in connection with Bicentennial sightseeing as apart from an interest in the University is hard to ascertain. The numbers of tours were up only 10 percent, 318 in the three-month period over 287 last year, indicating only that more people bunched together for each tour.

The Historical Society reports that 650 visitors stopped by its headquarters in Bainbridge House in June, topped by a whopping 1,000 in July and again in August, an increase of over 50 percent. In two hours on Labor Day alone, 111 visitors came to see the Historical Society's exhibits.

IT'S NEW To Us

IT'S ALL IN THE FAMILY: This past year Michael Servis joined his father, Walter, and made the Prep Shop a family business. Now at a new Palmer Square (33 West) location, this shop specializes in the same traditional boy's clothing it has sold for 25 years.

TRADITIONAL IS "IN"

At the Prep Shop. "You can't be all things to all people, so I picked a niche. We are basic in what we carry as we have always been," said Walter Servis. For 25 years The Prep Shop starting from its original Chambers Street location to Palmer Square and now up the Square to number 33 West, has carried traditional boys' and young men's clothing -- blazers, straight-leg pants, button-down shirts, and crew-neck sweaters.

Because the new store (where Princeton Shutterbug used to be) is smaller, Mr. Servis has given up the huge bureaus and eight-foot mirrors well known to past customers. However, the shelf space is as plentiful as ever, and the clothing has been cleverly arranged by size, eliminating running from one end to the other to match a shirt with a pair of slacks. We think the end result is most inviting.

From size 10 boys to young men's 40 the basic look is the same, although the selection is somewhat broader in the larger sizes. There are Robert Bruce Wool o' Mist shetland sweaters (machine washable and dryable) in many heather tones -- green, grey, blue, yellow and pink to name a few, $13 for boys and $19 for medium and large sizes. The Prep Shop does not carry size small because it is equal to a size 20 boys, and Mr. Servis sees no reason to pay more for the same sweater.

There are also long-sleeved v-neck pullovers in solid colors and a green or blue argyle; and heavy ribbed crewnecks in bold strips -- green and navy or rust and tan.

Robert Bruce also supplies the knit shirts, and here you can choose turtlenecks or the popular rugby, striped ones. Also, in the larger sizes there is a long-sleeved tab front shirt, $6 and up.

Button-down oxford shirts may be hard to find in most stores, but not here. In a permanent press fabric, there are blue, pink, yellow and white ones, with stripes and checks appearing at size 14, $8 to $13 depending upon the size. Brushed cotton sportshirts in a variety of tartan plaids are here too, $12 and $15.

Pants. The choice of pants seems to depend upon the school you go to. For instance, recently the old favorite khakis have been enjoying a new popularity, possibly as a step up from painters' pants. Others selections include corduroys and jeans in several colors including some that are guaranteed to fade, $10 to $16.

However, when it comes to dress pants, Mr Servis finds the grey flannels as important as ever. They cost approximately $18 to $22 and also come in a lovely cranberry.

Teaming with these and vying with each other in popularity are navy blazers and corduroy sportcoats in several tans and browns. The blazers also come in camel or green, and these jackets are priced $30 to $50 for sizes 10 to 20.

More of the same will be found in the young men's sizes, but here there are also a number of tweeds and plaids to look at, about $65.

New this year is a nylon sailing shell with a heavy pile lining suitable for the coldest days. It is available in burgundy, navy or dark green, $24. The cotton lined one for those transitional days is still around too, and it comes in red or yellow, $14.

Other coats include a khaki raincoat with a zip-out lining and a leather cowhide jackets with a pile lining resembling the sheepskin, but at a more realistic price, $85.

While The Prep Shop is a complete boys' store, (this includes the more ordinary items such as pajamas, underwear, belts and ties,) the girls often shop here too. Favorites for them are the shirts and sweaters, but blazers and pants are not ignored either.

Located at 33 West Palmer Square, the Prep Shop is open

SMALL STORE

With Big Ideas. Put a dream and a trip to Mexico together, and the result is a small retail store. At least this was so for Doris Burrell.

Although she has had her own beauty salon for the past 25 years, she had always wanted a dress shop. Until five years ago her husband talked her out of it when on a trip to Mexico she decided to incorporate it into her beauty salon business.

"I went crazy buying things. It was a Mexican fiesta," said Mrs. Burrell. Upon her return she fixed up a corner of the waiting area and after watching people buy on the spur of the moment, she dubbed it Impulse Corner.

The shop has many Indian imports so loved by the college students. However, Mrs. Burrell told us these imports are adding styles in an attempt to appeal to an older person. For instance the shirts (all 100 percent cotton) include peasant style blouses in lavender or blue that tie at the waist; long-sleeved solids in green, tan or coral; and a handsome natural raw cotton one with a blue or brown stripe, $10 to $16.

From a company called India Emporium comes a grey scoop-necked tunic with short cuffed sleeves and a tie waist. It's worn over a grey or green long-sleeved blouse printed with small multi-colored floral spays, which matches the lining of the tunic cuffs, $22.

We also liked a pinwale corduroy pantsuit with a hibbed-front shirt jacket in mint green or tan, $44. The same material colors have been used for long overalls which have a detailed waistline, lots of pockets and straps that cross in the back, $24.

Slinky Gowns. Evening clothes are here too in the form of slinky, sexy gowns from a small independent New York designer, Metamorphasis. As Mrs. Burrell says, "They make you keep your curves down."

One of the nicest features of these dresses is that they can be ordered in any of several colors — blue, mint, beige, rust, white or black. Our favorite is a long one, gathered at the neck with a cut-out back that laces closed.

Impulse Corner also has lots of jewelry such as narrow liquid silver necklaces and sculptured sterling rings. And for your ears there is a new order of hoop earrings in every conceivable color of wood, plastic and metal.

Another feature of this corner are the many small gifts Mrs. Burrell selects. These include small dried flower arrangements, pierced Mexican tin lanterns, a clear plastic recipe box and Haitian handcrafted wallets.

Impulse Corner, 21 Leigh Avenue, is open Tuesday from 9-6, Wednesday from 12-8, Friday from 8:30-8:30, and Saturday from 7:30-3.

News Of The CHURCHES

Staffed largely by voluateers, the store is open Mondays-Thorsdays, 9:30-5:30; Fridays, 9:30-9, and Saturdays 9:30-5. In the back there is a living room for reading and discussion in comfortable chairs and under lively pictures from C.S. Lewis's Narnia chronicles.

THREE FIRMS HONORED

For Architectural Designs. Three Princeton architect firms have been cited as among the best six entries out of 92 ia the aanual competition for design excellence conducted by the New Jersey Society of Architects.

Selected for special commendation were an addition to the Westcott Road residence of Mr. and Mrs. Archibald Alexaader, Jr. by Michael Graves and the East Orange Middle School hy Uniplan. Jurors praised the Graves entry as an "outstaadiag example of contemporary architecture, inspirational in detail and well-proportioned." Mr. Graves also won with a medical office interior renovation in Ft. Wayne, Ind.

The East Orange Middle School by Uniplan was termed "well-presented. It represent(s) a diagrammatic solution interpreted successfully into a building reality. The utilization of roof spaces is a major asset within a well-scaled, spacious building that is well-detailed."

The third winner was a preliminary design for a planned residential development in Orange County, N.Y. by Holt-Morgan-Schwartz. The jurors commended this entry for its "serious concern for the site and the environment. The site plan is well-conceived and executed and the project has good scale."

MILLIONTH PASSENGER

From Mercer County Airport. Ransome Airlines, which operates an Allegheny commuter service out of Mercer County Airport, selected Mercer County Freeholder Albert E. Driver, Jr. to be its 1,000,000th passenger as it marked this milestone Friday. J. Dawson Ransome, president of Ransome Airlines, commented before flight 128 took off for Philadelphia and Washington that Freeholder Driver had been selected because of his service to the air transportation industry.

The Franklin Mint is in the prncess of striking a special limited edition coin commemorating the event. In later ceremonies, Mr. Driver will be presented with the original proof, and all passengers on that flight will receive one of a limited edition of these coins.

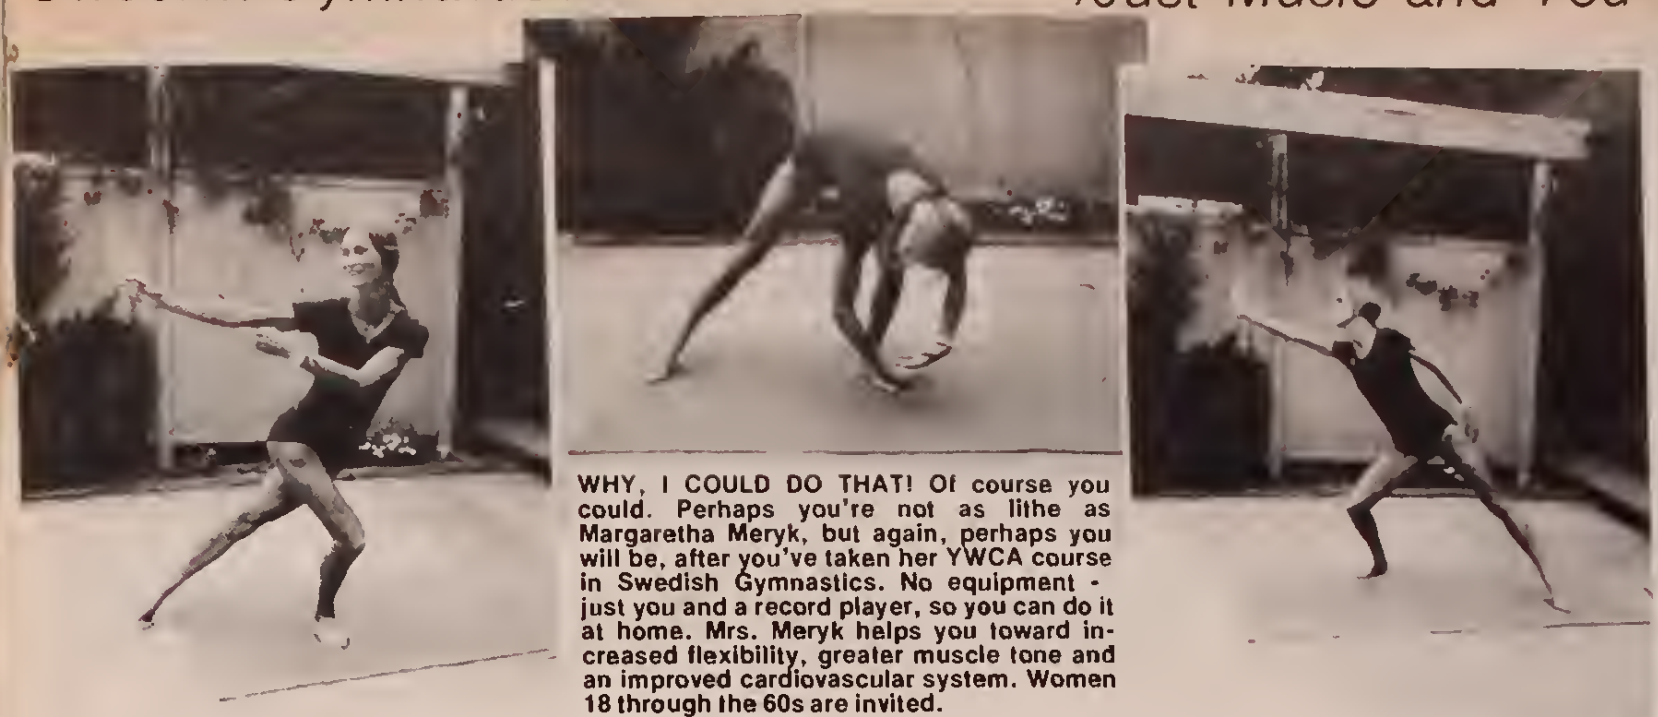
Swedish Gymnastics: Exercise at Home, Just Music and You



WHY, I COULD DO THAT! Of course you could. Perhaps you're not as lithe as Margaretha Meryk, but again, perhaps you will be, after you've taken her YWCA course in Swedish Gymnastics. No equipment - just you and a record player, so you can do it at home. Mrs. Meryk helps you toward increased flexibility, greater muscle tone and an improved cardiovascular system. Women 18 through the 60s are invited.

"You mean, no parallel bars? No dumb-bells? No trampoline?"

That's right. Swedish Gymnastics has only two basic pieces of equipment: you and a record player.

Sign up for Margaretha Maryk's class at the YWCA and you'll find you can do everything at home on your own rug. You can even use the same music she'll be using in class. Buy the record.

Music is an essential element in Swedish gymnastics, Mrs. Maryk says, not even breathing hard as she swings her long brown leg in time to the popular tune on the record.

"Exercise is SO important!" she smiles, "from childhood on, but especially after 30. Yet if it isn't fun-- well, people won't do it. Music adds to the enjoyment."

So does somebody to do it with. The Maryks--husband Michael, 12-year-old son and eight-year-old daughter-- get up at 6:45 every morning and swing and bend to the lilting rhythms.

"Learn young to respect and develop your body," Mrs. Maryk advises, "your well-oiled machine will last longer. If we do not use our bodies, we lose them!"

"Y" classes, 40 minutes long, start always with warm-up, move to exercises for flexibility, then on to a little muscle-toning work and finally to exercises that accelerate and exercise the heart and improve the cardiovascular system.

Mrs. Maryk believes in raising the normal 72-beat-per-minute heart to a brisk 160 beats, then allowing the heart to slow gradually to its normal thump. This should be done by everyone each day, she believes.

"You must exercise the heart-- it's the master muscle."

The warm-ups you'll get from Mrs. Maryk start with no more than an easy lifting of the heels, almost a walk-in-place, then move to an easy swinging of the arms, around and up and over, then a kind of soft-shoe dance, swinging one leg across the other, easy, easy, easy.

For flexibility, you stretch for something out of reach, then bend down and hang loose, loose, rolling yourself slowly up to a stretch again, always in time to the pleasant beat of the music.

"Anybody can do this," Mrs. Maryk smiles again, stretching to the side to limber a waist muscle.

Then the music speeds up. The beat is faster, almost a samba. You're jogging in place, running around the room, lifting your legs high. Or jogging two or three times on the same foot, whatever jog step the music makes you want to do. It is during this routine that your heart speeds its beat.

Not of all Mrs. Maryk's demonstration exercises are done by everybody every day. ("If you are tired, or feel any pain-- stop. I tell my students they're not in competition with anybody.")

Each individual has different needs: this one for flexibility, that one for increased stamina. Perhaps you want to work on stomach muscles, and if you do, Mrs. Maryk will lie on her mat and show you how to move your legs up, down and sideways--always to the beat of the music.

At the end of the session, everybody winds down. If you've been hopping and jogging, you don't stop just like THAT. You slow down to a walk, allowing your heart to slow down gradually, too. Then you lie down for two minutes.

"This is so you won't be panting when you leave," the teacher says.

Mrs. Maryk, who is Swedish, learned these musical gymnastic-dance-exercises in Sweden as a child. She has taken a special course in Sweden in cardio-vascular gymnastics, in addition to regular instructors' courses.

"Exercise!" she beams, "It is so important!"

A LAUGH FROM THE GRAVE: Actors rehearsing "A Grave Undertaking," McCarter's opener for the season, don't seem to be taking the undertaking that seriously. Chris Sarandon, Pat Hingle and Deborah Offner are the smiling trio. "A Grave Undertaking," described by director Michael Kahn as "a serious comedy," was written by young New Jersey playwright Lloyd Gold. Premiere will be Thursday, October 9. (Cliff Moore Photo)

We shyly admit that we serve some very good fish dishes, among which are:

- Broiled Fresh Turbot - soft and delicate
- Broiled Fresh Bluefish - fish lovers delight
- Fresh Flounder with Crabmeat - exquisite
- Fish and Chips - sensational

We also have been accused of preparing the best prime rib in town, a spectacular beef-burger, and enormously popular Southern fried chicken.

You may think we are immodest and over-confident, but that's because you haven't sampled our fare.

playwright, Lloyd Gold of Montclair, N.J., has written what he and Mr. Kahn call a "serious comedy" about living in daily communion with death. "A strong, funny and moving play," is the way Mr. Kahn characterizes "A Grave Undertaking."

In the cast, besides Mr. Hingle, will be the Princeton actor Karl Light, and Chris Sarandon, Deborah Offner, William Larsen, Richard Dix, Barbara Lester, Paul Larson and Frank Borgman.

Paul Zalon has designed the sets and Lawrence Casey the costumes. John McLain is in charge of lights.

"THE STING" IS BACK

For McCarter Weekend. Last year's hit, "The Sting" (winner of seven Academy Awards) will play McCarter Theatre for five performances this weekend.

It will be shown at 7 and 9:15 this Friday and Saturday, and at 7:30 Sunday. Tickets will go on sale at the box-office starting at 10 a.m. on Friday and Saturday for showings those evenings, and at 6 p.m. for the Sunday screening. Tickets will also be available at the door at all showings.

"The Sting" is set in the Chicago underworld of the 1930s. Robert Redford plays a con artist who's just a beginner and wants to take on the big leagues. Paul Newman is king of the con men and he takes the fledgling Redford under his crooked wing. Together they set out to pull the big con ("the sting") against bigtime racketeer Robert Shaw.

Fall Film Revivals at McCarter will continue the following Friday and Saturday– September 26 and 27– with "Chinatown," starring Jack Nicholson and Faye Dunaway. It will be shown at 7 and at 9:15 p.m. each evening.

POP....

Goes the Rock. Five concerts in McCarter's pop-rock series will enliven the campus during the fall months.

The season will open Wednesday, October 15, at 8 when Jimmy Cliff, "King of Reggae," appears in Alexander Hall for a single concert. A reggae superstar for over ten years in the Caribbean and in England, he is best known in this country for his work in the film "The Harder They Come." (It will be shown in McCarter's film series in December).

The Keith Jarrett Quartet will pay a visit to Alexander Hall on Saturday, October 18, playing its first local concert. Jarrett is a former member of the Miles Davis group, and is regarded as one of the best jazz-rock pianists.

The Nitty Gritty Dirt Band is Alexander's offering for Saturday, October 25. It will play two shows– 8 and 11. The Band will be followed on Saturday, November 8, by Fairport Convention with Sandy Denny. Janis Ian, whose "At Seventeen" is one of the five top current song hits, will appear at McCarter on Saturday, December 6.

LEARN FILM-MAKING

At Creative Theatre. A new film-making course for young adults and high school students will be offered this fall by Creative Theatre Unlimited. Pamm Hoffman will teach.

Prospective students may learn more about the course at an Open House to be held at the C.T.U. studio, 33 Mercer Street in Princeton this Thursday from 7:30-9:30 p.m. (adults) and 3:30 to 5:30 p.m. (children, with adults).

The Open House for Cranbury will be next Wednesday, September 24 at C.T.U.'s studio in The Old School Building. Hours are 4-5:30 p.m. (children) and 7-8:30 p.m. (adults). In Twin Rivers, the Open House will be next Monday, 7-8:30 p.m., at the Talent Center in the Shopping Center.

The film course will cover animation (hand-drawn and cut out), pixillation, which is a technique for using live action to achieve an effect similar to animation; documentaries and scripted film. Course content will depend on what students are interested in. There will also be instruction in editing techniques. Professional film-makers will visit the class and share their expertise.

In Cranbury, instructor Florence Flak will lead drama classes, stressing process rather than actual production. Students will explore movement and do acting exercises.

Amie Brockway will teach the Twin Rivers classes in improvisations and theatre technique.

Additional information may be obtained by calling 924-3489.

NEW COURSES

At Aparri. New courses in dance and body technique are in the curriculum this semester at the Aparri School of Dance, 217 Nassau.

Mila Gibbons, founder and director of the school, has announced courses in choreo-dynamics and body technique for women, taught by Madame Imogen Stooke Wheeler and Madame Beatrice Landolt. The courses will be offered Tuesday and Thursday mornings.

Mme. Wheeler is returning to Aparri as a guest teacher. She is director of the Ballet Workshop of Princeton which gave a variety of programs here last year, including performances of a Macedonian Wedding Dance at Princeton's Bicentennial celebration in May. She teaches men's classes as well as women's and will continue her courses in repertoire, including partnering, adagio (lifts) and variations from the classics.

Mme. Landolt of the Ballet Academy in Zurich, is known not only as a dancer but as a potter. Her pottery school is the Highland Farm Pottery in Hopewell.

Roberta Cestare, of the Little School of Ballet in Marion, Pennsylvania and the Central Cultural in San Miguel, Mexico, will also be on the Aparri faculty.

Mrs. John Boles will teach creative dance for children, and ballet fundamentals. She taught dance for several years at Germantown Friends School in Philadelphia.

Miss Gibbons, Aparri's director, will continue her research and work in dance therapy.

MUSIC In Princeton

NEW SEASON NEARS

For University Concerts. The 1975-76 season of the Princeton University Concerts will mark the 81st year of these musical events in Princeton. Throughout eight decades, the original aim of providing the best in music for the Princeton community has never faltered, and the new season is another good example.

Beginning with the first concert on October 20, Series I will present The Hague Philharmonic with Jean Martinon, conductor. Pierre Fournier, violoncellist, will perform works by J.S. Bach, Beethoven, Honegger and Paganini on December 1.

Andre-Michel Schub, pianist, will appear on February 16. He was first prize winner of the 1974 Naumburg Competition. Series I will conclude its offering on May 10 with Mezzo-soprano, Frederica von Stade, a young star of the Met.

Series II will open with The Charles H. Robinson Memorial Concert featuring one of the best string quartets today, the Vermeer Quartet, in a program of Mozart, Ginastera and Schumann on October 27. Martin Best will perform songs with lute and guitar, from Elizabethan ballads to Stravinsky, on January 5.

The popular Brandenburg Ensemble and soloists will return on March 29, with Alexander Schneider conducting an all-Bach program. Alfred Brendel, pianist, will conclude Series II on April 19 in a program of Bach, Beethoven and Liszt.

Subscriptions to both series are available until October 6 ($22 and $17 for four concerts). Despite the steady rise in costs, the University Concerts have not raised their Series I prices since 1969 and have maintained the price of Series II since last year. A very special student subscription price of $15 and $10 for four concerts is offered for the first time this season, and all Princeton area students are eligible.

All concerts are on Monday nights at 8:30 p.m. at McCarter Theatre. For further information call 924-0453, Monday through Friday, 10-4, or write to the Concert Office, Woolworth Center, Princeton University.

BORGE TO PERFORM

With Soprano at Lawrenceville. When the renowned pianist and comedian, Victor Borge, returns to the Kirby Arts Center at The Lawrenceville School on October 3, soprano Marylyn Mulvey will be with him, as she was when the two performed two years ago for the benefit of the Lawrenceville School Camp for underprivileged boys. This time the two artists are appearing in a benefit performance with and for the Mercer County Symphonic Orchestra, which consists of 70 young musicians from the Delaware Valley's junior and

Outdoor Art Show and Sale Set for Sunday

The Princeton Art Association will hold an outdoor art show and sale Sunday from 1 to 6, at its country headquarters at Ettl Farm, Rosedale Road.

The show is open to the 700-odd members of the Association, who come from communities throughout Central New Jersey and the Delaware Valley. A big and colorful display of paintings, original prints, sculpture, weavings, drawings and photographs will be hung on fences at the farm center.

During the afternoon there will be continuous demonstrations by PAA art instructors. Jim Colovita (Hopewell) and Pat Huckins (Princeton Junction) will work on sculptures. Larry Greenberg (East Windsor) and Marietta Kust (Pennington) will give painting demonstrations and Bunny Neuman (Kendall Park) will do watercolor paintings. Renee Levine (Princeton) will be at work in the printmaking studios. Young people in the childrens' printmaking classes will also be seen in action in the graphics workshop.

The studios – where Fall classes begin on September 29 – will be open for inspection by visitors. Roving musicians will entertain throughout the afternoon, and a refreshments stand will be set up.

Committee members for the "Afternoon at the Farm" are Pat Landman, Estelle Sands and Jean Eringen, Princeton; Nummie Warga, Cranbury, Pat Huckins, Princeton Junction, Florence Basford, Ringoes, and Janet Caravell, Trenton. Rain date is next Sunday, September 28.

The afternoon art tour can be rounded off with a stop at McCarter Theatre for the 4-6:30 opening of the Art Association's Instructors' Show -- the first of this season's changing exhibits in the theatre foyer.

TRAVEL WITH MUSEUM

To Knoedler or Italy. Art tours to museums and private collections will once more be offered by the Friends of the Princeton University Art Museum. Those who are interested are invited to join the Friends ($10 and up) and to obtain detailed information by dropping a note to the Friends of the Art Museum, Princeton University.

On Tuesday, the Friends will sponsor an evening tour of the Knoedler Gallery in New York to see the loan exhibition of master paintings from Russia. As a preview, Professor John R. Martin, chairman of the art and archaeology department at the University, will present a slide lecture at 5 on Sunday. The talk will be given at the University Art Museum, McCormick Hall.

Transportation to and from New York will be provided for Princeton residents going to the Knoedler; others will meet the group in New York. During the Friends' tour, the gallery will be closed to the general public.

In October, the Friends will sponsor two trips. One will be a one-day tour to Bucks County, Pennsylvania, to visit the studios of artists and artisans. The second trip will be to Pittsburgh (October 21-22) where Princeton alumni have arranged visits to several museums and to the Frank Lloyd Wright house, "Fallingwater."

In November, the Friends will visit the Wildenstein Gallery in New York to see the exhibition, "Landscapes from Poussin to Bonnard." The group will also visit a private collection.

Later in the season, there will be tours to the Islamic collection and the Robert Lehman collection at the Metropolitan Museum of art; the Barnes Foundation in Merion, Pennsylvania; the Yale University Art Gallery; the Wadsworth Atheneum in Hartford and the Bicentennial exhibition at the Philadelphia Museum of Art.

Mrs. Wisnovsky and the Friends are also making plans for two longer tours. The first of these will be a trip to California early in 1976. The second will be a trip to Italy in the spring. The cost for all tours includes transportation, gratuities and a tax-deductible contribution to the Princeton University Art Museum.

VARIED WORK SHOWN

By Artists in PDS Exhibit. Princeton Day School's first art show of the season features the work of three artists whose output ranges from "fabric sculpture" through interchangeable ceramic landscapes to canvasses painted in varied shades of a single color. The total effect indicates the way new media are continually broadening the horizons of conventional art.

The three creative minds at work in the PDS exhibit are those of Barbara L. Demaray of Somerville, Nancy J. Wall of Trenton and Dr. Howard Goldstein, Professor of Art at Trenton State College.

Miss Demaray, formerly a "Sesame Street" writer-producer and now a creative director for Young & Rubicam, has in effect created her own medium, compounded notably of fabrics, wood and paint. The delightful results take the form of unique dolls, chairs, collages and "people furniture," so called because it incorporates fascinating human-like figures. Miss Demaray's creations have been displayed in Tiffany's windows, at Lord & Taylor, the Hallmark Gallery and Swain's.

Nancy Wall, an art teacher at Hamilton High School West, has studied with Elsa Johnson. Her ceramic sculptures are first hand-shaped, then fired three times – once more than is customary in order to add the lustre, usually working with liquid gold or platinum. Her landscapes and animal groupes reveal a sense of humor, and the elements of certain works are interchangeable so that they can be re-composed at will.

TOD PEYTON

Republican Candidate for Township Committee

Tod Peyton first came to the Princeton Community in 1949. He attended Princeton High School and graduated from Princeton University in 1960. Following service as an Army officer, he worked for the Redevelopment Authority of the City of Philadelphia during its most active period.

In 1964 Tod entered the Real Estate business in Princeton and has become prominent in that field, being a co-founder of one office, and founder in 1974 of his own firm. He was president for a year of the Princeton real estate Group during which time this normally business-oriented organization was involved in issues which affected every householder in Princeton.

His college training in architecture and the nature of his profession have made Tod Peyton especially aware of the special qualities of Princeton, and of the ways Princeton has changed over the years. He feels a strong obligation to serve the town he lives and works in. He can bring to the Township Committee a unique combination of background and outlook.

He will also head the faculty committee on continuing education.

By his appointment, Professor Banner, a Yale graduate with a PhD. from Columbia University, takes over a program begun by Mrs. Mary Bunting, former president of Radcliffe College, while she was President Bowen's assistant for special projects. The Princeton program is limited to 100 qualified resident of the Princeton area who participate fully in the courses to which they are admitted. They are graded and receive certificates of successful completion for each course but are not degree candidates.

Judith Shatin, a doctoral student at Princeton University, and Christina E. The fellowship will assist Ms. Shatin, a composer, to complete a concerto for viola and 25 instruments. She plans to conduct open rehearsals and workshops of the concerto so the community can see and hear the work in progress. Performances of her work have been given at Douglass College, the Mercer Arts Center and the Juilliard School of Music.

The grant to Ms. Craig, who is a weaver, will permit development of an indoor playroom for children, using natural and man-made fibrous materials. The project will be on permanent loan to the state for use in a public institution.

Ms. Craig has taught in the art department of Trenton State College and the Hopewell Valley School system as well as in New York and Illinois.

Selected for inclusion in the 1975 edition of Outstanding Young Men of America are Edward A. Salkind, 199 Nassau Street, and John C. Baker, 87 Princeton Hightstown Road, Princeton Junction. The criteria for selection include a man's voluntary service to community, professional leadership, academic achievement, business advancement, cultural accomplishments and civic and political participation.

Here's an amazing fact... The man who turned out to be one of the greatest coaches in the history of sports--Vince Lombardi--wasn't able to get a job as a head coach for many years... Nobody would hire him as a head coach in all the years he was an assistant coach at Army, Fordham and with the New York Giants... He repeatedly applied for head-coaching jobs but was always turned down until Green Bay finally hired him in 1959.

Did you know that only one father and son combination was ever chosen to the first team All-America in football history?... Can you guess the father and son who made it?... In 1909, Red Miller of Notre Dame was named to the All-America team, and in 1943 his son, Creighton Miller, made the All-America, also at Notre Dame.

When was the last time a National Football League team went through a whole season without winning a game....Last time it happened was in 1960 when the Dallas Cowboys did not win a game...Their record that year was no wins, 11 losses and one tie.

Contributions of Sophomore Class Will Play Major Part in Success of PHS Football Team

The junior and sophomore classes at Princeton High School are sharp in contrast, as far as football participation in concerned.

The present junior class is one of the smallest in school history, according to PHS football coach Jim Beachell, and it is one of the chief reasons why the Little Tigers have a depth problem this season. There are only 12 juniors on the squad and two of those are transfer students.

The sophomore candidates in contrast were undefeated as freshmen last year and although Beachell has lost six through attrition from the 24-member squad, he says "there was enough talent on that freshman team that quite a few have a shot at making the varsity."

"Because the junior class is so few in numbers," he commented, "the sophomores will be the mainstay of the jayvee team, they will be the main line of support to the varsity." He added that the sophomores "will have to take up the slack".

Enrollment Lower. In fact, quality and not quantity is something Beachell and his staff will have to contend with from here on out. PHS has been stripped of all its former sending districts. The male population now numbers just a little over 500.

The 80 and 90-member football squads at PHS are gone forever. PHS is probably smaller in size than any of the nine teams it will face this fall. Beachell pointed out that such Trenton schools as Hamilton and Steinert have complete offensive and defensive teams and in game conditions, when fatigue begins to take its toll, PHS will be at a disadvantage.

Ability to keep everyone healthy is of vital importance to PHS this fall. Last year, Beachell watched in dismay as several key players sustained injuries in the second game with Ewing. PHS lost the next five in a row.

It is one reason why, in view of the unpredictability of injury, Beachell insists "we're going to take it one game at a time. If anybody wants to know how we're going to do this year," he said, "all I can say is come out and look at us play on Saturday."

Juniors. Among the juniors followers of PHS will see play on Saturday are tailback Tony Strong and guard Mike Long who both earned letters last year as sophomores.

Trying to break into the backfield will be Ken Bullock, Scott Thompson and Luther McKeller. Bullock is a state sectional champion sprinter (100 in 9.9) and would provide the Blue and White with a strong outside threat. "The speed and potential are all there; it's up to him," commented Beachell.

Thompson, 5-11½ and 165, is a quarterback, whose passing has improved and whose defensive speed has increased, according to Beachell. He described him as "one of the most improved players."

McKeller is 5-1½, 120 and despite his size, "tough as nails." "If he were a foot taller and 100 pounds heavier," observed Frank Francisco, Beachell's assistant, "he could play pro football. They are trying him as a wingback on offensive and defensive back.

A strong candidate for starting tackle is Jean Paul Maman, 6-4, 185. Maman is working hard on the weights--a program Beacbell has introduced this year-- and has grown rapidly, prompting Beachell to remark, "I'm looking forward to seeing what he can do."

James O'Grady, 5-10, 155, came on strong last season as a guard and defensive back and just missed earning a letter. "I expect a lot out of him," said Beachell. O'Grady is a transfer student from Notre Dame.

Phil Billington, 5-10, 157, transferred this year from Princeton Day School and Beachell reported that he plans to experiment with him in several offensive positions and as a defensive back. "He has a lot of potential," he said.

Others include Ray Clark, center and defensive lineman; Eric Suber, 6-1, 172-pound tackle ("improving all the time, can't be pushed around"); Billy Schmedeskamp, 5-9, 155, a split end-defensive back ("good hands, good speed") and Robert Willis, 5-9, 145, ("improving") who sustained a broken arm last year. He is a linebacker and wingback.

Sophomores. Linemen candidates are Dean Boyer, Chris Cahill, Brian Cleveland, Jonathan Diamond, Cory Easter, Karim El Meligi, Peter Gorman, Mike Henninger, Andre Intartaglia, Mario Mattera, Chris Morris, John Morris, Bill Ogilvie, Lance Phox and Tom Breithaupt.

"Big Mike" Henninger is 247 pounds, 5-10 and strong; Diamond "a tough little guard"; Chris Morris a 197-pound tackle. Beachell called El Meligi "the most improved lineman on the team. With a little more experience he can help the varsity." Meligi is another benefitting from Beachell's weight program.

"Outstanding. Extremely fast" is the manner in which Beachell described the 5-10½, 180 pound Phox. A dash man, he had the fastest time of any freshman in the County, Beachell reported.

Backfield candidates are David Miller, fullback Keith Wadsworth, one of the leading scorers on the freshman team, Kim Beasley, quarterback Keith Phox and Barry Turner.

Turner, 5-6, 160, actually carried the ball a few times in the last game against Trenton--probably one of the few freshman ever to play in a varsity game, Beachell observed. He is very quick and has lots of running talent.

Beachell tagged him as one of the most talented freshman athletes in the county. In a freshman county track meet last year, Turner scored the most points by capturing three firsts.

If the development of these promisIng sophomores is one

FAST AS A TIGER: When PHS coach Jim Beachell says the Little Tigers' running game has definitely improved, one of those he has in mind is Ken Bullock, a sprint champion who can run the 100 in 9.9. Bullock is a junior.

PHS Scrimmage Report: Running, Yes; Passing, No

"We're coming around," said PHS coach Jim Beachell after his team's second pre-season scrimmage Saturday against Howell Township.

The running attack is sound. Tony Strong, Beachell reported, averaged 10 yards a carry in a scrimmage against Manalapan, and neither Howell or Manalapan, he said, was able to stop fullback Eric Ziolkowski up the middle.

Passing? Nothing but gloom surrounds the Little Tiger air game so far. "It needs a lot of work," Beachell acknowledged. On defense, he mentioned linebacker Nate Harris and tackle Craig Rendall as early standouts. Both are veterans.

Beachell received another boost last week when Mike Fuschini, one of the stars on last year's undefeated freshman team, changed his mind about playing. Fuschini had said at the start of practice that he did not want to play football this year.

Tiger Football Squad Loses Three Key Players But Veteran Backfield Is Basis for Optimism

The departure from the squad of a two-year letterman at guard and injuries to a top linebacker and a promising punter have complicated the pre-season practice picture for football coach Bob Casciola. None of the resultant problems will be easily solved in the ten days that remain before the Rutgers opener a week from Saturday.

Jack Basta, a rugged, versatile senior who lettered as a linebacker in his sophomore year and was converted to a starting guard just prior to the 1974 opener, has not reported for football this year, preferring to concentrate on his studies and play baseball in the spring. His job has been assigned to Warren Gorrell, the regular center for the first six games last fall until benched by a neck injury. Dan Calvo, a 230-lb. junior who moved in as a regular toward the end of the 1974 season, will continue as the starting center.

A major loss for the first third of the season was incurred when junior Steve Lang broke a bone in a toe. Scheduled to start as a linebacker, he won a starting job in mid-October last fall and is very possibly the best defensive player on the Tiger squad. Hopes are he will miss only the first three games this year. Paul McKeon, a junior who saw action primarily with the B squad last fall, will move for him.

The Tigers' kicking skills were depleted when Mike Stein, last fall's highly accurate barefooted punter, chose to sit out this academic year. They have been further set back by a knee injury to sophomore Jerry Howe, Casciola's first choice to replace Stein. The probable punter in the Rutgers game will be chosen from Scott Morrison and Mark Skof, both placekickers, and Ted Schiller.

Backfield Appears Set. Odds are that Princeton will go with the four players figured to start in its backfield before practice began this month. The only newcomer from last fall is junior Mike Carter, the fleet 188-lb. junior who has apparently won the honor of succeeding Walt Snickenberger.

Like Snick, Carter specialized in kickoff returns in his first year on the varsity, doing so well that he ranked third nationally when he compiled a 28.7 yard average. He will operate with three seniors — all two-year lettermen — Neil Chamberlin at flanker, Bob Reid as fullback and Ron Beible, the quarterback who has started every game in his varsity career except the first one.

It is on Beible's performance this year -- more than on any other one player -- that the Tigers' chances for success hinge. His two-year statistics are so solid that he will not only hold every major passing record in the Princeton book by the end of the season but will obviously break those for completions (172) and attempts (351) on opening day. He needs three completions and four attempts to do so.

In the presence of an established quarterback, the Tigers have a lead over every other member of the Ivy League -- markedly so in the case of all save Brown. The Bruins appear to be blessed with a real rarity -- arrival on campus of a transfer student who is eligible immediately, and not after a year's wait.

The newcomer at Providence is Bob Bateman, who played at the University of Vermont until the latter discontinued the sport for reasons of economy. He was second in NCAA Division II in passing last year, and some forecasters are blending his arrival at Brown with the Bruins' unusual holdover strength to pick them as the league's no. 1 team in 1975.

Elsewhere, the search is on. Harvard lost Milt Holt, Yale is without Tom Doyle, Penn graduated Marty Vaughn, Tom Snickenberger has his Dartmouth diploma and Cornell has lost Kevin Sigler. Beible's top ranking, based not only on seniority but proven ability, will carry the Tigers a long way if he can produce the kind of season to be expected of a tested veteran.

Rutgers Here in 1976

Although there has been no official announcement from Princeton or Rutgers, the game next September between the two universities will undoubtedly be played in Palmer Stadium.

It had been scheduled as the first college football the first collegefootball game to be held in the new stadium in the New Jersey Meadowlands, near Carlstadt. However, David A. Werblin, chairman of the New Jersey Sports and Exposition Authority, said last week that the stadium is not expected to be ready before October 1.

Other sources have said that it is unlikely that the New York Giants, who will play their home games there, will use the stadium at all in 1976. The date of the Princeton-Rutgers meeting next year is September 25.

of the keys to the Little Tigers's success or failure on the gridion this year, it won't be for lack of talent. It's there - but will it be ready in time?

Beachell's answer: Come out and see us play, and find out for yourself.

Next week: Schedule and Outlook.

TO HARVARD BY TRAIN

For Game November 8. It's the kind of train that would almost surely get Johnny Cash pickin' and singing, but instead of the Orange Blossom Special, it's the Orange, Black & Crimson Express. Scheduled to run from Philadelphia to Boston with intermediate stops, the chartered special will carry hundreds of Princeton and Harvard alumni and friends to the annual Princeton-Harvard contest on November 8.

Sponsored by the Princeton University Alumni Council and the Princeton Area Alumni Association, the Orange, Black & Crimson Express will leave Philadelphia at 6 a.m. and will stop at Princeton Junction, Newark, New York, Rye, Stamford, New Haven and Boston.

IMPROVEMENT IS GOAL

Of Hun School Grid Team. Last year Hun School football coach Dave Leete guided the Red and Black to a fine 5-3 record, a dramatic reversal from the previous year's 1-7 mark.

This year, Leete is hopeful his club can do even better and if he can escape injuries, he thinks he has the personnel that will make Hun more than just representative on the gridiron.

An early assesment (before any scrimmages) reveals that Hun is strong in the backfield and defensive secondary. The entire offensive line has to be replaced with the exception of Jack Porcelli. But the versatile Porcelli who can play guard, tackle or linebacker, has been sidelined with "mono" and is not expected to suit up until October.

The interior of the defensive line is also untested, Leete reported.

Backfield Ready. Not so the backfield. Terry McEwen, a Princeton resident, is the standout. Quick and elusive, McEwen scored 80 points last year and gained 1,034 yards in 121 carries.

Mr. Inside was fullback Ernie Barbiero, 190 pounds, who complimented McEwen and gave Hun a balanced running game. He, McEwen and Porcelli are tri-captains of the team. Barbiero, however, broke his nose in practice last week and his exact playing status remains in doubt. "It would be a big hole to fill," acknowledged Leete.

Rounding out the backfield will be quarterback Nick Brady and newcomer Gregg Pabers, 185, a senior transfer student from Ontario, Canada, who, Leete says, "has looked good."

Other returning lettermen include Keith MacEwan, 195-pound tackle; Tom Sumners, a 190-pound end; Tim Teel, a 195-pound fullback or halfback and linebacker on defense; and Shawn Cleary, 205-pound tackle, who hurt his neck last year.

Two postgraduate students, both from New Providence High School, N.J. Group 2 state football champion last year, are Tom Kennedy, 220-pound guard and linebacker, and Larry Gebert, an end.

Up from the jayvee squad are Bob Cronin, 180 pound tackle and Princeton resident; Sal Ammirata, 210-pound center, who like Cronin is a sophomore; Scott Smith and David Gering, both linemen, Nick Scozzari, 185-pound junior guard and Lou Royal, junior halfback, saddled with mono since June. Ted Ruckstuhl, a transfer from Valley Forge Military Academy, is fighting Ammirata for a starting center berth. The squad numbers about 30.

Game Conditions Needed. "We need to scrimmage," said Leete, who at one point led Hun through an unbeaten streak that covered 33 games. "There's quite a bit of difference between our first and second guards and its hard to tell how we're doing."

Hun has scheduled scrimmages with West Windsor, St. Anthony and Montclair Academy before its opener, next Saturday against Newark Academy.

The offensive backfield, defensive backs and the linebackers of Pabers, Kennedy, Barbiero, Teel and Ruckstuhl look strong, said Leete, who is starting his seventh year. "The interior line is questionable."

"If we stay healthy, I'm a little bit optimistic," Leete allowed. "If we get hurt, we're in trouble. A team could wear us down and we'd be hard pressed to stay with them."

ETS AWAITS CHALLENGER

In Business Softball. In the playoffs for the championship in the Princeton Business Softball League, Educational Testing Service successfully defended its first-place position in the National Division. In the American Division, McGraw-Hill and Norelco will battle each other for the right to face ETS for the league championship.

Educational Testing Service had an easy first round, defeating Firmenich, 12-5, and 12-2. Its next opponent was Forrestal, which had eliminated First National Bank of Princeton in two games after dropping the opener in that series, 4-3. Forrestal came back in the second game to top First National, 7-4, and won the series the next night with a 10-6 victory.

Forrestal did not fare as well against ETS, which routed the losers, 16-0, and 11-6, and earned a chance for the league championship for the fourth straight year.

In the American division, favored McGraw-Hill stopped United Jersey Banks with surprisingly big scores of 26-7 and 24-9. In the first game, UJB's Harry Gooding had a total of six hits including two home runs.

The second game featured Dave Sands batting 4-for-5, including two homers and 9 rbi's. Home runs seemed to be the rule rather than the exception, as Bobby Wood, Barry Brommell, Bill Sweeney and Mike Beauchemin all hit two, with Beauchemin contributing eight rbi's as well.

Norelco earned the right to meet McGraw-Hill by downing RCA (A), 22-15, and, 10-0. Norelco meets McGraw-Hill this week to determine who survives to face ETS.

SEMI-FINALS SATURDAY

In Springdale Golf. Bill Paine will play Jack Petrone and Jack Mudge will oppose Don Shaw Saturday in the semi-finals of the President's Cup Tournament at Springdale Golf Club.

Paine, whose handicap is 8, will give Petrone five strokes, while Mudge, at 6, will give Shaw 13. Survivors of the 18-hole matches will meet in the finals Sunday.

In matches last weekend, Paine eliminated B.E. Bergesen, 5 and 4, and Bill Quackenbush, 2 up. Quackenbush advanced on Saturday with a 4-and-2

Veteran PDS Football Team Looking Forward To Improving Last Season's 5-and-2 Record

The Princeton Day School football team will open its season at home Friday afternoon, playing host to Chestnut Hill Academy at 3:30, and unless some unforseen, dire catastrophes occur, this one has success written all over it for coach John Boneparth and his Panther squad.

Last year, when PDS captured the Division B New Jersey Prep School championship for the second time in a row, it won five and lost two. One of those losses was in its opener to Chestnut Hill by one touchdown.

Commenting on Chestnut Hill, Boneparth said: "I assume they'll be one of the stronger clubs we play this season."

BACK ON THE SCENE: Bill Baggitt, a starter as a sophomore at PDS, had to sit out his junior year with a knee injury. The 6-5 quarterback is now ready to lead the Panthers to an expected fine season.

So far, it has been easy for Boneparth, starting his third year as head coach, and his assistant Rob Hoffman--secure in the knowledge they have a solid club and quite probably another champion. "The whole season has been easier than any other," Boneparth stated. (He's been at PDS five.)

"They're all veterans on the squad...their attitude has been superior...all I can say is that it's been very enjoyable."

Solid Backfield. The starting PDS backfield is big and fast, headed, of course by superstar Bill Martin. "I can't imagine anybody being any better," said Boneparth.

While Martin's achievements have not reached the legendary stage yet, they are nonetheless eye-opening. As a junior last year he gained almost 1500 yards in seven games, averaging almost 12 yards per carry. The exploits of the 6-1, 195-pound tailback, who is equally adept at running around or over his opponents, earned him a story in the New York Times.

The other running backs are sophomore Bob Olsson, 6-1, 175, and Mark Blaxill, 5-10, 165, co-captain of the team along with Martin.

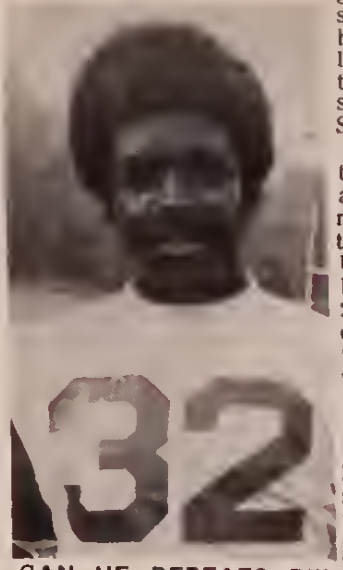
Returning at quarterback is 6-5 Bill Baggitt, a starter as a sophomore who had to sit out his junior year with a knee injury. Baggitt can throw well and deep--or as Boneparth described it, "Baggitt can throw the ball 487 yards."

At center will be Jay Trubee. The guards are Jim Daubert and Ralph "Rocky" Adams; the tackles Len William and Jeb Burns; the ends Steve Judge and Mark Zawadsky. All are seniors except Zawadsky, a junior. And, unlike the backfield, all are relatively small. "Quickness and agressiveness will be the key to outline play," said Boneparth.

Others on the small PDS squad that numbers in the 20s (freshmen excluded) are junior tackle Dave Mottley, senior Chris Jensen, Tim Dill, a sophomore transfer from Hun School, Don Gips, sophomore end, Dave Barondess, sophomore kicker and punter and transfer from Nottingham School in Trenton, and end Jack Smart, tbe only freshman on the varsity.

Execution Sharp. Following a scrimmage with West Windsor last week, Boneparth reported that he was very pleased. "The offense and defense were way ahead of last year. The execution was particularly sharp."

With Baggitt in there, Boneparth added that he hopes to be able to develop a passing game and take a little bit of the burden of the running backs. As for what the offensive and defensive sets will be this year, Boneparth isn't saying--other than to report he's changed them both "to get the maximum flexibility out of my personnel." Everybody has to be prepared to go both ways, he said.



CAN HE REPEAT? Bill Martin had a season last year that most running backs can only dream about. In seven games, the PDS back gained 1,452 yards in 120 carries for a 12.1 average. He scored 16 touchdowns and ran for eight extra points.

In fact, what had pleased him so well in the West Windsor scrimmage, Boneparth related, was that "everyone showed signs of reaching his full potential. We know what we've got, and the kids were performing up to their ability."

What is the outlook for Billy Martin and Company? Can they do it again – even more impressively? "I think it all depends if we stay healthy," replied Boneparth. "If we do, I think we'll be competitive in every game."

TENNIS CLINIC BILLED

At Indoor Center. The six indoor courts of the Princeton Indoor Tennis Center will be the site from September 19 to September 28 of the Van der Meer Tennis University, a ten-day course in tennis instruction that will help established professionals who wish to continue their tennis education and newcomers who wish to make tennis teaching a career. In all, 42 "students" will be led in person by tennis clinician Dennis Van der Meer and his staff.

The Center's new professional, John Gudzinowicz, who has been trained in the Van der Meer method of teaching, will be one of the assistants.

Enrollment for this year's Tennis University is filled, but 50-100 "test students" will be needed for the final two days, Friday, September 27, and Saturday, September 28, from 3:30 - 5. These test students who will be taught free by the student teachers under the guidance of Van der Meer, should be of junior high or high school age of all ability levels. The only criterion is that they be able to attend sessions on both Friday and Saturday afternoons.

To earn free instruction as a test student, write name, age, address, and telephone number on a card and send it to the Van der Meer Tennis University, c-o Princeton Indoor Tennis Center, Box 2306, Washington Rd., Princeton, or register in person at the Center. Those accepted will be notified.

SOCCER CLUB PLANNED

Registration Saturday. Registration for the newly-formed Princeton Soccer Club will be held Saturday, from 9 - 12 at the YMCA, Avalon Place. The club is open to boys and girls ages 8 to 15 and will meet every Saturday morning from 8:30-10 from September 27 through November 22.

The program is under the direction and supervision of Richard Broad, assistant varsity soccer coach at Princeton University, who will give instruction in basic skills and techniques. All participants will be organized according to age and ability level into several divisions for game play and league competition.

Cost of the entire nine-week program is $12 with a $10 charge for each additional family member. Those who cannot be on hand for the formal registration Saturday may register by phone in the evenings at 924-5613.

FALL RACING HELD

On Lake Carnegie. Twenty sailboats competed in Sunday's races on Lake Carnegie, including several young skippers racing for the first time with the Carnegie Sailing Club. Several sailors turned turtle in the tricky west winds, but despite the chilly waters continued to sail.

The sunfish fleet ran five races between 2 and 4:30, with ten sunfish competing in the triangular course at the eastern end of the lake. The final tally showed Bob Chapman in the first position for the day. Tom Huntington was second, followed by Dick Jesser.

After the first 11 races in the fall series, Chapman is first, Jesser second, and Nancy Henderson, third.

The Lazers took a week off, but will be back sailing this Sunday. Bob Holzman leads this class, followed by John Henderson.

Sailors who wish to join the Carnegie Sailing Club may call Commodore Richard Jesser, 921-8106.
